ABOUT LITTLE TRUTHS STUDIO

My name is Lori Roberts and I am self taught artist living outside Portland, Oregon. My watercolor illustrations are inspired by nature, science and the beauty of everyday life. For me, painting is a means to explore our connections with the natural world, universe and each other. Being surrounded by lush forests and abundant wildlife not only fuels my creativity but it also propels me, time and again, to my paints.

I look forward to working with you and thank you for supporting Little Truths Studio.
